

Where can you get advice and support with impact?

Planning for impact

Where to start

- Planning for Impact Toolkit www.bath.ac.uk/ris/impact/toolkit
- Research Impact Manager in Research and Innovation Services (RIS)
research-impact@bath.ac.uk

Advice on writing grant applications

- RIS Application Surgeries www.bath.ac.uk/ris/events/application-surgeries
- Public Engagement Unit
public-engagement@bath.ac.uk
- Research Marketing & Press Teams
press@bath.ac.uk
- Institute for Policy Research
ipr@bath.ac.uk
- Institute for Mathematical Innovation
imi@bath.ac.uk

Engaging for impact

Where to start

- Departmental Impact Directors
- Research Impact Manager in RIS
research-impact@bath.ac.uk

Engaging with a wide range of stakeholders

- Advice from the Public Engagement Unit
public-engagement@bath.ac.uk
- Research Marketing & Press Teams
press@bath.ac.uk
- Development and Alumni Relations
alumni@bath.ac.uk

Engaging with industry

- Research Development and Knowledge Exchange www.bath.ac.uk/ris/about/rdke
- Development and Alumni Relations
alumni@bath.ac.uk
- Institute for Mathematical Innovation
imi@bath.ac.uk

Advice on engaging with policy audiences

- Institute for Policy Research
ipr@bath.ac.uk

Developing your skills

- Researcher Development Unit researchers@bath.ac.uk
- Public Engagement Unit
public-engagement@bath.ac.uk

Evidencing impact

Where to start

- Research Impact Manager in RIS
research-impact@bath.ac.uk

Advice on evaluating engagement activities

- Public Engagement Unit
public-engagement@bath.ac.uk

Evidence from media engagement

- Research Marketing & Press Teams
press@bath.ac.uk

Advice on recording evidence

- PURE
pure@bath.ac.uk

It's never too early to start thinking about impact. Across the University there are many resources available to support you in planning for impact; right from writing the initial grant application through accumulating impact evidence during the course of your research and recording your successes on Pure — all the way to advice on writing an impact case study to highlight your work.